WHAT WE ACCEPT

We strive to maintain and grow our base of discerning buyers, who expect high standards for the items they invest in. For this reason, we are consistent and firm in our quality, brand and style criteria.

WE SPECIALISE IN

- Luxury and designer fashion including clothing, bags, shoes and accessories
- Premium quality, current or timeless styles
- Genuine designer vintage

WE DO NOT ACCEPT

- Pieces showing any sign of wear, defects, odours or damage. Even the smallest blemish will render pieces unsuitable for our platform;
- Items from our Unsuitable Brands List. Please read this list BEFORE consigning;
- Counterfeit or replica goods;
- Styles that are not likely to find favour with our customers;
- Pieces that have been bought more than 3 years ago, except in the case of genuine designer and haute couture items;

Due to quality, ethical and environmental concerns, fast fashion is not accepted — even if it is new with tags.

Please refer to our Consignment Agreement for detailed terms and conditions relating to consignment.

THE CONSIGNMENT PROCESS

STEP SEVEN: STRATEGIC PRICING AND PAYOUT

Every piece we list is priced using market data aligned to maximise sale probability. We take great care in the presentation of each product to showcase the piece in its most desirable form.

When your pieces sell, you may choose to receive your payment via:

- Bank transfer, or
- Store credit (+10% bonus value)

Payments are made during the first week of each month.

COMMISSION STRUCTURE

Your return reflects both piece value and positioning quality.

SALE PRICE	CONSIGNOR PAYOUT
$100 - $199.99	35%
$200 - $499.99	45%
$500 - $999.99	65%
$1,000 +	75%

Your final payout depends on pricing strategy and sale conditions. Authentication or reconditioning fees (where applicable) may be deducted, and discounts or promotions may further adjust the payout amount.

PRICING PHILOSOPHY

We list pieces at prices that deliver value for both our consignors and customers. Pricing is approached strategically, with reference to past sales data and comparable sales on other platforms. We do our best to select price points that will deliver sales in a reasonable timeframe.

Pricing is determined by:

- brand and condition
- demand and resale history
- current market conditions

From time-to-time we run pricing promotions to stimulate sales and if applicable, your pieces may be included in these promotions. In these instances, the listing prices will be reduced, and your payouts will be affected accordingly. We will not reduce prices by more than 30%.

AUTHENTICATION & TRUST

At The Closet, we take authentication seriously, as counterfeiting poses a significant threat to consumer trust within the resale industry.

Respect for our clients is a core value within our company, and we ask for the same level of respect from our consignors. As such, we have a zero-tolerance policy for any counterfeit products. As such, every item we list is thoroughly inspected and verified before it goes live.

Authenticity of all luxury and designer brand pieces will be reviewed and assessed internally, using professional authentication methods. Other pieces are referred to specialised third-party authentication services for an additional inspection where required.

We may obtain an independent verification of authenticity, even if you have submitted authentication documents. The cost of independent authentication is $40 per item, and $120 for Hermes branded pieces. These will either be deducted from your first payout or become payable when items are returned to you (after the 12-week listing period, as per our Terms and Conditions).

THE CLOSET

Certain brands are only accepted on the condition that we obtain independent verification of authenticity. This list may be found on the Brands page of our website. Please include any proof of authentication that you may have in your consignment.

If you are unable to provide proof of authenticity, we will obtain independent 3rd party authentication on your behalf. A $40 authentication fee will be subtracted from your payout amount, once the item has sold. In the instance that items are proven to be counterfeit, we will destroy said item and may alert authorities.

This authentication process protects your reputation, the trust of our buyers and the integrity of our platform. It is a necessary aspect of luxury resale.

LISTING & SALE TIMELINE

The initial listing period is 9 weeks from the date of listing. After this period, price adjustments of up to 30% may be made to accelerate sales.

After 12 weeks of listing, unsold pieces may be:

- returned (if selected)
- donated
- otherwise managed according to our consignment terms

You cannot request a return of any pieces during the initial 12-week listing period.

Once the 12-week listing period has elapsed, you may request the return of your items (shipping costs apply) if you have selected this option on your consignment agreement. If you have opted not to have your items returned, we will deal with them according to our terms and conditions.

OUR STANDARD

We are intentionally selective of pieces listed on our website. After 7+ years in this industry, we have found that:

- quality attracts better buyers
- better buyers deliver better outcomes
- better outcomes build long-term trust

In our experience, we’ve noted that using a more discerning approach in the pieces we accept yields faster sales and stronger returns.

FINAL NOTE

In consigning with us, you are unlocking value from your wardrobe through a platform designed to protect and elevate your pieces. Furthermore, you are taking an active role in the circular fashion economy and promoting a more sustainable future.

IMPORTANT

This guide is designed to explain our consignment process. For full legal terms, please refer to our Consignment Agreement and the Terms and conditions published on our website. These documents govern all consignment terms for pieces submitted to The Closet.
